CONFERENCE OF RAILROAD MEN

To attend a conference in Salt Lake and probably in Ogden, the import of which has not been given out for publication, J. Q. Upon the arrival of the train here, the officials will go to Salt Lake, but probably will return here for a further conference.

HARBERTSON IS A COMING CHAMP

With Ernest Kartje as his trainer, Jack Harbertson, the local wrestler, who meets Henry Irslinger for a return match at the Orpheum, June 19, is learning new tricks at his trade. The two meet in training matches at Harbertson's gymnasium and during the training hours there are always a number of fans on hand to see Kartje and Harbertson work.

Kartje has become greatly interested in his man, and promises that the friends of Jack will see a big change in offensive tactics in the next match. Those who have seen the local man in his various matches agree with Kartje that the defense of Harbertson has always been excellent. The trainer declares that a stronger offense will make the Ogden man a world-beater and it is to this end that Kartje is working.

At the same time, Irslinger is not laying off. One of the stunts he does every day is to take a trip to Malan's heights and back in the morning. Those who have taken the walk up and down the mountain appreciate what a fund of energy is expended in making the journey. Irslinger judges his physical condition by the way he feels at the conclusion of each trip and he states that he is in such good shape that the walk and climb just makes him tired. In addition to his cross-country runs, he wrestles and boxes for wind. Realizing that his former victory must be backed up, he is taking no chances of losing through being in poor condition.

BLOW UP THE WRONG MAN COSTS $15

Louis Oliver, the negro arrested yesterday afternoon when he had attacked E. D. Hallen and had been sent to the sidewalk for his pains, told Judge Reeder this morning that he had attacked Hallen because Hallen resembled an insurance agent.

Although the remark caused a general laugh, it availed Oliver nothing and he was given a sentence of $15 or 15 days.

Hallen stated this morning that he was on his way toward the depot with a friend when, at a point opposite the Assembly club, Oliver had called to him and made a pass at his face. Hallen said that to protect himself he had sent Oliver down for the count with a blow on the jaw.

The six Greeks arrested last night and charged with playing cards "for money, coffee and soda water" will be tried tomorrow morning.

Patrolman Marlin and Sergeant Mohman arrested the sextette at the coffee house of Pete Collos on Twenty-fifth street. Collos was held on $50 bail and $5 each was put up by the others.

The mayor's selection of Walter Paul as clerk in the water works department at a salary of $75 a month was approved and the appointment officially made.

C. G. Price was given the contract for plastering the city jail, the contract price being $14.

The $2,000 bond of the Ogden Plumbing & Heating company was approved and a plumber's license issued.

SLOT MACHINE CASE DISMISSED

Upon the grounds that they were in the nature of tests and had been selected from the entire city, City Attorney John Heywood this morning moved for the dismissal of the slot machine cases against W. E. Sanderson and William A. Taylor. There were two complaints against Sanderson and one against Taylor. Judge W. H. Reeder granted the motion.

Before the Utah supreme court re-dered a decision in the matter of the slot machines, the two defendants agreed to test the case and operated their machines. After being arraigned in the municipal court, the case was continued until after the decision, which put the machines out of commission.

VETERANS ASK FOR MAINE TABLET

In behalf of Harry A. Young camp No. 2, Spanish American War veterans, Commander George Wardlaw has sent an application to the secretary of the navy for one of the memorial tablets cast from the guns of the battleship Maine. Only 1000 tablets were cast and strong recommendations are required to secure one, but it is believed that one of the thousand will come to Ogden.

When the sunken Maine was recovered, the guns were removed and taken in charge by the navy department. They were melted and cast into tablets, 13x18 inches, weighing 15 pounds each. The government stamp has been placed upon one side and upon the other is an engraving of the Maine with an inscription stating that the tablet is a memorial for those who lost their lives in the explosion of the vessel.

In the applications sent out to be filled in, the organizations asking for a tablet must promise to hang it prominently in the meeting room and that great care be taken to preserve it. The tablet cannot be given away or loaned without the permission of the government.

Commander Wardlaw completed the task of securing signatures and seals to the papers sent with the application today and mailed the documents this afternoon.

DROPS DEAD AT BREAKFAST IN A CAFE

While seated at a table in the Vienna cafe, at 10:15 o'clock this morning, David N. Stephens, aged 52 years, and a lifelong resident of Ogden, was stricken with apoplexy, dying a few minutes later while being taken to the police station in the patrol wagon.

Apparently in good health, Mr. Stephens, who conducts a confectionery wagon at the Reed hotel corner, had gone to the restaurant for breakfast. While seated at a table near the door, his head was seen to fall forward. When the Chinese waiter observed that the man was in distress he rushed to the street and notified Patrolman John Russell.

Russell telephoned to the police station for the patrol and at the same time the city physician was called and was on hand when the wagon reached the station.

After the unconscious man had been lifted into the wagon, he was observed to give a slight gasp which was the last sign of life. At the station, Dr. Whalen examined him and pronounced apoplexy the cause of death. The body was removed to the Lindquist Undertaking parlors.

Mr. Stephens was born in Ogden, 52 years ago, and has lived in the city practically his entire life. His late residence was 2757 Volker avenue. He is survived by the following children: Chester, Joseph, Pearl, DeForest, Dorthula and Mary Stephens. His wife died two years ago. Alonzo and C. O. Stephens are brothers.

BURGULARY LOOT STORE

Price, June 9.—The Independent Coal & Coke company's general store at Kentlworth was broken into last night and about $400 worth of goods taken. The postoffice which is in the same building, lost only $2. Officers who are investigating the case believe the same persons who stole a pouch of registered mail from the depot here a few days ago are guilty, but have no clue in either case.

CONTEST IS TO CLOSE ON JULY 3

That the winner of Wright's pony contest may have the pleasure of using his prize on the Fourth of July, the firm has decided to make the award on the morning of the Fourth of July instead of August 15, as announced at first. This means that there are now only about three weeks more.

The list today shows increase in most of the totals and yet one of the contestants has a very great number. It looks as though anyone of the following could be the winner by beginning at once an active campaign.

If, within the next few days, some of the contestants do not become more active, it will be assumed that they are not any longer interested and their names will be dropped from the contest. Those who have but few votes, but who still desire to remain in the contest, should notify the contest manager to that effect.

The first floor of the Kiesel block has been completed and brick masons will begin work on the wall facing Twenty-fourth street this afternoon. Forms for the concrete pillars in the north and east walls are being built by carpenters.

Excavation for the Peery block, across the street east from the Kiesel building, is completed and the concrete workers will begin on the basement walls tomorrow.

JURORS IN THE DISTRICT COURT

The jurors for the June term in Judge N. J. Harris' division of the district court appeared this morning and were examined as to their statutory qualifications. A few were derelict and bench warrants were threatened. However, the belated soon learned that their presence was required in court and they made hurry up runs to get to the court house.

Those excused for physical disability and business reasons were Fred Lundberg, Peter F. McFarland, William H. Collins, J. A. Thompson and F. J. Hendershot. The first case taken up for trial was that of the state against Maggie Jones, charged with grand larceny.

LICENSE FOR A SALOON IS DENIED

Respecting unsightly bill boards on Wall avenue and Twenty-sixth street, Commissioner J. C. Nye reported to the board of commissioners last night that the manager of the Utah Bill Posting company had assured him that they would be removed.

The petition of property owners for the removal of poles from the center of the street to the curb line, on Twentieth street, between Washington and Grant avenues, was granted and the removal will be ordered.

On the recommendation of Mayor Fell, water main extensions were ordered made on Wall avenue to Twentieth street, but action on the extension of mains on East Sixteenth street was deferred.

Blosser and Foley of the Elite cafe were granted a refund of license from May 3 to May 24. The business place was being repaired during that time.

The application of Arthur Buckner for a saloon on Lincoln avenue, near the Lamberg depot, to be known as the Lagoon saloon, was denied. Superintendent T. S. Browning of the department of public safety reporting adversely on the application on the ground that to grant the application would be to increase the number of saloons beyond that provided for in the city ordinances and also that the place is not within the liquor district as provided in the law.

Plumbing Inspector Thomas Davis reported against granting a plumber's license to Murray T. Campbell and J. C. Wright because a number of plumbers of the city had protested the right of them to practice plumbing in the city, claiming that they have no permanent place of business and are not capable. The commissioners took no action on the report, but referred the communication of the inspector to the parties. Mr. Davis stated that he would have no objection to granting of the license. If the plumbers' association would withdraw the protest.

Mr. Campbell states that he is as qualified to do plumbing as any other plumber of the city, but that because he has not affiliated with the plumbers' association of the city the members of that organization are determined to bar him from Ogden. He states that he has been doing plumbing for a number of years and has done some of the best jobs in Ogden and he thinks it is an injustice for the city to refuse to grant him a license simply because his competitors do not want him to have one.

The petition for watermain extensions on Twenty-seventh street, between Wall and Lincoln avenues, was referred to the superintendent of waterworks.

The petition of property owners for the removal of poles from the center of the street to the curb line on Lincoln avenue, between Twenty-first and Twenty-third streets, was given to the street department.

Attorney Willis stated that it made no difference with his client as to the judge to hear the case, but that he would like a landing of some sort and hoped that the case might be tried somewhere, intimating that disagreement between the two judges as to who should select a judge to hear the case, ought not be the means of deferring the hearing. The two judges will likely get together and decide on a third judge.

NEITHER JUDGE WILL ACT IN THE CASE

The damage case of John S. Lewis against the Pingree National bank is being placed in the court calendar for trial with some difficulty. It first fell into the hands of the clerk of Judge N. J. Harris' division but was transferred from there to Judge J. A. Howell's court because of the disqualification of Judge Harris. In turn, Judge Howell returned it to Judge Harris on the grounds that he, too, is disqualified from hearing the case, but Judge Harris refuses to entertain the proposition.

Judge John Willis, attorney for the plaintiff, this morning advised Judge Harris that Judge Howell had ordered
